

European-art.net connects different art archives and their digital databases. Widely ramified information (basic data, texts, images) on individuals, groups and institutions as well as details about exhibitions and literature can be obtained free of charge by means of a central search engine.

As a meta-database, european-art.net does not itself provide any data on artists and other related subjects but refers to the intrinsic data of its institutional partners. The highly professional profile of the partner institutions stands for the reliability of its contents.

European-art.net organizes an annual meeting for its partners in order to exchange know-how, expand the network and further develop the project.
